Summary

I am looking to transition into the tech industry. I have always been interested in solving problems using computers. I would like to expand my skills and knowledge in the tech industry. There are real people who are unaware of how their lives can be better through better applications. I would like to learn and use my skills to reach these people and show them how their lives can improve.

I have started with the Codecademy bootcamp and learned the following:

Javascript
HTML/CSS
SQL
React
Python
